THE WEEK ENDING DEC. 16, 1905. The engagement of Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, to Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohia was announced at the White House. Secretary

Bonsparte approved the finding of the court-martial which sentenced Midshipman Minor Meriwether, jr., accused of causing the death of Midshipman James Branch, jr., to one year's confinement in the Naval Academy reservation and a public reprimand by the Secretary of the Navy; Secretary Bonaparte announced his determination to put an end to haz'ng at the Naval Academy and declared that every midshipman guilty of that practice would be summarily dismissed and turned over to the Maryland state authorities for further punishment. Bids for the construction of railroads in the Philippine Islands were opened at the War Denariment. The tion of railroads in the Philippine Islands were opened at the War Department. The Panama emergency appropriation bill was considered by the Senate; the liem in the bill relative to the regulation of the issue of canal bonds was taken out of the measure and passed as a separate bill; the House refused to consider the measure on the ground that the Senate had encroached on its privileges and prepogatives; the Santo ground that the Senate had encroached on its privileges and prerogatives; the Santo Domingo treaty was sent back by the Senate to the foreign relations committee for revision; Senator Tillman delivered a speech on the alleged usurpation of power by the President; Speaker Cannon in the House announced the appointments of standing committees; the House devoted considerable time to the question of federal supervision of insurance; a revolt, headed by Repreof insurance; a revolt, headed by Representatives Lamar of Florida and Shackelford of Missouri against the minority lead-ership of John Sharp Williams of Mississippl, culminated in personal colloquys on the floor of the House. The battleship Louisiana, the first of the new 16,000-ton ships, made 18.823 knots an hour of her endurance run, establishing a new record. The court of appeals of the state of New York decided against the contentions of W. R. Hearst in the New York ballot case. Thomas F. Ryan, United States Senator Dryden and E. H. WITHOUT A SNOW LAW.

District Cannot Require Sidewalks to Be Cleared of Slush. "Positively no! And you can print it in capital letters." This was the statement made by Com missioner West today when he was asked whether an effort would be made this winter to enforce the old snow and ice law of the District. "There is nothing for us to enforce," he continued, "the Supreme Court by refusing to grant a writ of certiorari to review the test case carried as far as the Court of Appeals last winter, practically upheld the decision of the latter tribunal, which was adverse to the District, and we are left practically without a law on the subject." Commissioner West further stated that an effort would be made to secure new legislation from the present Congress, and that the tentative draft of the bill, in which careful consideration had been given to meet the objections made by the courts, has been prepared by the coporation coun-
